Statement on Texas Supreme Court School Finance Ruling

AUSTIN-- State Senator Donna Campbell released the following statement upon the Texas Supreme Court's ruling that the school finance system is constitutional.

"The Texas Supreme Court rightly addressed a legal question and wisely avoided a political one with today's school finance ruling. The decision that Texas meets the constitutional requirement is no surprise to those of us in the Legislature who regularly vote on budgets where 40% of general revenue goes to public schools and Texas students achieve among the highest graduation rates in the country. There are still gains that need to be made, and they will be best achieved by improving teacher compensation, expanding school choice, and keeping more local dollars in the community. I look forward to working on these issues next session."
